President LeShana Inagurated McCall Endorses Small Colleges by Ronda Arbogast Dr. David C. Le Shana and the Class of 1974 were officers.

Dr. David C. Le Shana and the Class of 1974 were officially welcomed to George Fox College October 2. Students, faculty, members of the college Board of Trustees, and special guests were present to witness the first known formal inauguration of a George Fox College

(GFC) president.
Speakers including Governor
Tom McCall, brought official greetings to the new president from the church, school, and state. In his speech Governor McCall emphasized the world wide concern being focused on college campuses throughout the world and endorsed the importance of small schools such as George Fox for producing qualified leadership.

"You will be watched to see what tomorrow will be," he said. Showing a concern for student-administration cooperation McCall said "We count on you" to protect the right of the student.

Wilbert Eichenberger, Chairman of the Board of Trustees presided ever the instal tees, presided over the installation ceremony. Specially forged in Massachusetts and presented to Dr. Le Shana as a token of his office by the Board of Trustees was a bronze medallion of the school's seal. Governor McCall presented a copy of the college charter.

Making student senate permanent, revising the consti-tution, and "getting my desk back" are main issues for the first term as stated by Cyril Carr, 1970-71 president of the Associated Students of George Fox College.

Carr returned to George Fox after a summer of work on his intensified studies project. His study of the hostory of Evangelism in a migrant camp proved challenging and rewarding.

Carr feels that the student senate by providing quick action on a representative basis rather than an executive level make improvement in student government.

Student senate, president Carr feels, will eliminate confusion found in student body meetings. Through senate representation problems discussed in class meetings will be forwarded to the senate.

This method will allow each student opportunity to be heard.

The group was able to spend one day with Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller of Deerfield, Kansas. This family had assisted the Friends Company eight in the past and again helped the New Friends Company.

Through Mr. Miller the company had the opportunity to perform before approximately 100 high school age young people as they stopped field work for a lunch break. Also in the same day, a performance before a migrant workers school, a church and a youth service.

On the way back to Oregon the group climbed Pike's peak and visited Yellowstone National Park. This year the group

Would You Like A Coke?

I have been asked that question so many times but this year for the first time I said no! Many things have been said about the Coca-Cola Company. "Things do go better with Coke", on the sales charts but not for the company employees.

Chet Huntley, first brought this problem to my attention in a documented television program concerning the living conditions of Florida migrant workers. To my surprise I learned that Minute Maid orange juice is made by the Food Division of Coca-Cola. Huntley filmed and interviewed many migrant families who live in substandard or condemned housing and work in the Florida orange groves.

During my summer vacations I work for General Foods, Birdseye Division. This gives me the chance to work with migrant workers in the plant. Lefeel that the Coca-Cola company is not concerned enough with the average worker in the fields or the plant. This is in direct contrast with companies who treat their employees both with salaried and seasonal respect.

Letters to the Coca-Cola Company have brought many responses. The company is beginning to solve the problem. Yet, their efforts are late and do not extend to all their employees. Resorting to boycotts solves very little and creates a hardship for the company employees. Yet, how can we continue to support a company that is unfair to their foundation—the unsalaried employee.

To the Editor:

I traveled for the school this summer and I had a chance to see several colleges across the nation. Through this experience I became very thankful for the opportunity of studying in a 'unashamedly Christian College.' George Fox has so much more to offer than any of the schools I saw because many of them, in trying to keep up with the world, became a shamed of Christ.

Although George Fox was the best school I saw all summer I believe there is still room for it to improve it to improve.

One area the school falls short in is finances. All too often students are shown how the world handles money instead of how Christ would. Now I realize a school needs money to remain a school, but the emphasis should be on education not on penny pinching.

However, the responsibility for this does not fall completely on the shoulders of the Administration, but it also falls on the shoulders of the students. The Administration is at times overly cautious, but the students are nor always very conscientious either. We as a student body along with the faculty and administration need to really pray that we will not let money show us up as hypocrites in the eyes of the world, but more important than this, in the eyes of our Lord.

Turning to their colleagues they uniformly recognized their peers as the kindly though stronger group, which would now endeavor to put this pompous, inexperienced collection of scheming children into their proper place.

The purpose of this series is to better acquaint students and faculty with the new professors at G.F.C. this fall.

Our first issue highlights the choir director replacing Jerry Friesen for the interim year, Professor Joseph Gilmore.

Mr. Gilmore, born in Alhambra and raised near Azusa. Calif., went to Friends University in Wichita, Kansas, to graduate with his bachelor's degree in 1961.

He taught choral music at Webster, Kansas, for one year.

Then while working on his master's at Michigan State, Prof. Gilmore taught 5 years at Rose Hill High in Wichita. (Wichita Space-& Line-man?)

Upon getting his Master of Music Education at Friends' U. in '67, the choir director taught there for three years before being offered the position here at George Fox.

Mr. Gilmore's life-verse is with Christ: nevertheless I

Music: Opus #1

New to the department this year is Mr. Joseph Gilmore, director of choirs and voice instructor. Mr. Gilmore hails from Friends University in Wichita, Kansas where he has been on the music faculty for the past several years. Prior to teaching at Friends U he was a student there where he received a Bachelor of Music Education and at Wichita State University where he received a Masters of Music Education. In addition to choirs and voice he also teaches conducting and plays the French Horn in the band. A native Californian he comments favorably on Oregon it is possible to get used to the Oregon mist without having to grow up with it. Mr. Gilmore comments that there is much more of a community spirit at G.F.C. than he experienced at Friends U. This he accounts primarily on that at George Fox the majority of students are on campus whereas at Friends 80% of the students commuted. He is looking for-ward to a busy and eventful year with this year's presentation of "The Creation" and the annual tour later this year.

Also new to the music department this year is the Baldwin Electro Piano Lab in Fine Arts II. This will be used in several classes under the direction of Mr. Howard. When the installation is completed they will be used by the piano classes. Theory II students, Music Fundamentals students, and for practice pianos.

This is a much needed im-provement for the department through the lovely harmonies created by the offtime antiques. As to what will become of the old pianos I have not heard of anything definite though Mr. Howard, might be ammenable to donating them to some worthy organizations for the raft race.

Tickets for the Oregon Symphony and the Portland Opera are available again this year. If interested contact Gale Field.

Four spiritual laws take on extra meaning according to Bev Carey when you share them with a witchdoctor.

Bev, a junior at George Fox this year, traveled to Haiti last summer. She worked with the Oriental Missionary Society at a radio station. Her opportunity to meet and share God's love with a witch doctor came after working hours when she did deputation in villages.

When Bev first arrived in Port-Au-Prince Haiti, she traveled for 8 hours and 160 miles by camio or a truck with wooden sides and hard benches. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hodges-friends from her home church, met Bev after this unusual trip.

In Haiti

Ine Hodges invited Bev into. their home for the eight weeks of her stay in Haiti. Their home is a hundred year old planta-tion house with twelve foot ceilings. The one draw back is that the only window coverings were screen.

In addition to working at the radio station, Bev took a few Creole language classes, wrote a Bible school theme song, and lost part of her luggage. "I went with the attitude that I would sacrifice my time, but I soon found out that the Lord can't use someone with that attitude; so He changed my mind."

Harriers Show Promise.,

This past summer marked a new beginning in the future of athletics at George Fox College (GFC). With the hiring of new coach's Loren Miller, basketball, Rich Allen, track, and Bob Brown, wrestling, things have really begun to jell.

Recruiting athlete's has played an important part in the new feeling that has sprung up around campus. However, the emphasis has been put on the talent found on the basketball court, rather than that of cross country which we will talk about in this article.

Head Coach Bert Lamb built a cross country team. First, he was encouraged when Curt Ankeny decided to make GFC his place of higher Education.

Curt was a fine runner for Newberg High School. He went to state where he put in a strong performance for his school. There are many exciting thing's waiting to come from this dedicated freshman Sophomore Bob Bletcher, in his first year at cross country, has made it a point to do his best in building the name of GFC as a contender in intercolegiate athletics.

Mark Moore is also in his first year and is putting forth effort in his training and participation in the meets.

When Coach Lamb acquired the application for admissions from Ken Bell he could see that new and exciting things were to come.

Ken finished second in the Washington State cross country meet last year with a time of 12.40 over a 2.5 mile course. In track he finished first in state in the two-mile run with a time of 9.30, while placing third in the mile run on the same day with a clocking of 4.29, during his junior year. Last year Ken again finished first in the two-mile with a time

. Ken has run a variety of races including a 26-mile marathon in his senior year. His time of two hours and 46 minutes was the eight best in the nation at that time. Just a week before coming to Fox he ran the same race bettering his previous time by six minutes.

Ken's goal for the year is to be the District Cross Country

With the credentials he has come with, this feat is very much a possibility.

Ken feels that the atmosphere in the athletic department is fantastic, and that he forsees a winning tradition at GFC.

Ken believes in winning and feels that the coaching staff present this year will make his stay here an exciting and rewarding experience.

Thinclads Plagued

by PAUL D. WILLIAMS

The excitement that was stirred this last summer because of the tentative arrival of a strong cross country team has died down as fast as it came.

If you subtract from the eight men who were scheduled to run this year, two men who for various reasons aren't run-ning, two men who didn't arrive, one man who arrived but soon left, and one man who is njured and can't compete you will discover the dilema that Coach Berton Lamb found him-self in at the season's start. But somehow Coach Lamb mustered five mentogether who were willing to compete as the Quakers played host to the first "George Fox Invitational Cross Country Meet" on Sept. 26. The first man to finish the mile course, which stretched over the college campus, was Spencer Lyman, the top man from OSU. Lyman toured the course in a time of 18.36 to lead the field of 86 top runners from Washington, Oregon and California.

Ken Bell, a freshman at George Fox, and small school two mile champion from Wash-ington state, was the first Quaker to finish the course. He finished ninth in overall competition with a time of 19:02. Only two runners from OSU placed ahead of him.

Another top finisher for G.F. was Curt Ankeny, a freshman from Newberg as he finished 34th overall in his first college competition after being pushed down several times and receiv-ing a cut lip.

Other finishers for GF were Larry Eberth 43, Bob Bletcher 44, and Mark Moore 59.

G.F. finished 7 out of 9 teams with a total score of 178 points. Clackamas Community College finished just ahead of Fox with

The next meet was run at OCE. on Oct. 3rd against OCE and Wil-lamette. Ken Bell again was a standout ashe finished the 4 course 1st in a time of 20:03.3.

STUDENTS

Have something to sell? Advertise in the Crescent.

Curt Ankeny finished fifth ahead of Rick Forancy who was top man from OCE last year. Mark Moore also finished for the foxmen in 21st slot. Due to injuries to Bob Bletcher and Chuck Howard G.F. wasn't able to field a full team so there was no team score.

Coach Lamb says that he is very pleased with the meets and the individual efforts of the runners. He feels that the meets have more than lived up to his expectations and he encourages more spectator participation

The success of the cross country team this year will have to be measured in terms of individual performance and improvement, which has been excellent, rather than in terms of overall team performance. The next meet is scheduled for Oct. 10 at 11 a.m. at Champoeg Park, when the G.F. thinclads will meet the University of Puget Sound.
